Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on August 5, 2008 has been entered.

In making the below rejections the examiner has considered and addressed each of the applicant's arguments, including those related to the assignee's prior art material disclosed in the explanatory sheets.

Drawings

The drawings were received on August 5, 2008. These drawings are approved.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

Claims 1, 3-4, 7-9, 12-14, 16 and 20-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Burgbacher et al in view of Papst et al and further in view of Zentani as set forth in the office action of February 6, 2008.

Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Burgbacher et al in view of Papst et al and Zentani as applied to claim 1 above, and further in view of Brown, as set forth in the rejection of February 6, 2008.

Claim 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Burgbacher et al in view of Papst et al and Zentani as applied to claim 1 above, and further in view of Simpson, as set forth in the rejection of February 6, 2008.

Claims 10-11 and 17-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Burgbacher et al in view of Papst et al and Zentani as applied to claim 1 above, and further in view of Mizutani, as set forth in the rejection of February 6, 2008.

Claims 12 and 19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Burgbacher et al in view of Papst et al and Zentani as applied to claim 1 above, and further in view of Boris "How do I Write and Emulator" Part 1, R1.00, as set forth in the rejection of February 6, 2008.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed August 5, 2008 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. The applicant argues that the device of Zentani has little or no relation to the fan device as claimed and goes on to note a number of structural differences between the Zentani fan and the fans of Burgbacher et al and Papst et al. Primarily the applicant notes that the Zentani fan is driven by a larger AC motor and as such the control elements are different in size and function. For example, the applicant argues that the circuitry of Zentani does not connect to a galvanomagnetic position sensor since in an AC motor the position of the rotor is not critical. Further, the applicant argues that the examiner.

The examiner respectfully disagrees. First, the examiner notes that the rejection does not set forth that the controller of Zentani et al is not being substituted for the controller of Burgbacher et al and Papst et al. The controllers of Burgbacher et al and Papst et al disclose the required controllers connected to a commutated external rotor motor as claimed. Zentani et al is being cited and applied for its teaching of supporting structure for a circuit board of electric motor driven fan. Such structure as shown in Figures 7 and 8 of Zentani clearly teach of a simple mounting structure which allows a board to be easily mounted and replaced (see col. 7 lines 38 and 39). Furthermore, one of ordinary skill in the art would understand from the noted figures that a compact structure is created.

In response to applicant's argument that Zentani is nonanalogous art, it has been held that a prior art reference must either be in the field of applicant's endeavor or, if not, then be reasonably pertinent to the particular problem with which the applicant was concerned, in order to be relied upon as a basis for rejection of the claimed invention. See In re Oetiker, 977 F.2d 1443, 24 USPQ2d 1443 (Fed. Cir. 1992). In this case, all of the references are directed to axial fans driven by electric motors and having circuit boards mounted within the housing structure. One of ordinary skill would find the teachings of mounting the boards in each of these references analogous, related and pertinent to the claimed invention.

In response to applicant's argument that there is no suggestion to combine the references, the examiner recognizes that obviousness can only be established by combining or modifying the teachings of the prior art to produce the claimed invention where there is some teaching, suggestion, or motivation to do so found either in the references themselves or in the knowledge generally available to one of ordinary skill in the art. See In re Fine, 837 F.2d 1071, 5 USPQ2d 1596 (Fed. Cir. 1988) and In re Jones, 958 F.2d 347, 21 USPQ2d 1941 (Fed. Cir. 1992). In this case, Figures 7 and 8 of Zentani clearly teach of a simple mounting structure which allows a board to be easily mounted and replaced (see col. 7 lines 38 and 39). Furthermore, one of ordinary skill in the art would understand from the noted figures that a compact structure is created.

DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
  - I. Claims 1-30, drawn to a microfluidic system and device, classified in class 422, subclass 102.
  - II. Claims 31-36, drawn to a fluid sensor, classified in class 422, subclass 82.01.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

2. Inventions I and II are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct if they do not overlap in scope and are not obvious variants, and if it is shown that at least one subcombination is separately usable. In the instant case, subcombination I has separate utility such as fluid transport to a chemical microreactor. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

The examiner has required restriction between subcombinations usable together. Where applicant elects a subcombination and claims thereto are subsequently found allowable, any claim(s) depending from or otherwise requiring all the limitations of the allowable subcombination will be examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. See MPEP § 821.04(a). Applicant is advised that if any claim presented in a continuation or divisional application is anticipated by, or includes all the limitations of, a claim that is allowable in the present application, such claim may be subject to provisional statutory and/or nonstatutory double patenting rejections over the claims of the instant application.

3. Restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper because all these inventions listed in this action are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and there would be a serious search and examination burden if restriction were not required because one or more of the following reasons apply:

- (a) the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art in view of their different classification;
- (b) the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art due to their recognized divergent subject matter;
- (c) the inventions require a different field of search (for example, searching different classes/subclasses or electronic resources, or employing different search queries);
- (d) the prior art applicable to one invention would not likely be applicable to another invention;
- (e) the inventions are likely to raise different non-prior art issues under 35 U.S.C. 101 and/or 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include

(i) an election of a invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse. Traversal must be presented at the time of election in order to be considered timely. Failure to timely traverse the requirement will result in the loss of right to petition under 37 CFR 1.144. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable on the elected invention.

Art Unit: 1797

If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable upon the elected invention.

4. Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

5. This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species:

- a. Species A: a microfluidic device comprising two planar substrate layers, with a plurality of pipettes transiting the second substrate layer, and a plurality of channels disposed on the bottom surface of the first substrate layer; and
- b. Species B: a microfluidic device comprising three planar substrate layers, a plurality of pipettes transiting the third substrate layer, and a plurality of channels disposed through the thickness of the second substrate layer.

The species are independent or distinct because claims to the different species recite the mutually exclusive characteristics of such species. In addition, these species are not obvious variants of each other based on the current record.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable.

There is an examination and search burden for these patentably distinct species due to their mutually exclusive characteristics. The species require a different field of search (e.g., searching different classes/subclasses or electronic resources, or employing different search queries); and/or the prior art applicable to one species would not likely be applicable to another species; and/or the species are likely to raise different non-prior art issues under 35 U.S.C. 101 and/or 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

The election of the species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the election of species requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse. Traversal must be presented at the time of election in order to be considered timely. Failure to timely traverse the requirement will result in the loss of right to petition under 37 CFR 1.144. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable on the elected species.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the species unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other species.

Art Unit: 1797

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141.

6. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Cedric A. Chan whose telephone number is (571) 270-3721. The examiner can normally be reached on Monday-Thursday 8:00 AM - 6:00 PM.

If attempts to reach the examiner by telephone are unsuccessful, the examiner's supervisor, Jill Warden can be reached on (571) 272-1267. The fax phone number for the organization where this application or proceeding is assigned is 571-273-8300.
